

Copper Kettles

Brew kettles are made from copper. After time corrosion takes place, and at certain spots the kettle is fixed with smaller copper plates, which are held in place by copper rivets. Can one save money by fixing the kettle with much cheaper iron or at least iron rivets?

Answer

---

No. The iron would work as a sacrificial anode and the plate and/or rivets would corrode very quickly.