

Competition 10: Greek and Roman Thinking

Read Strabo's Geography book VI chapter 4 on how Italy's geographical position prepared it for the leading role in the Mediterranean world. Compare this to book V chapter 3 on Rome and its immediate surroundings.

Consider these three questions:

- What assumptions about human society and the influence of the environment on it does Strabo make?
- Does he think society can evolve?
- How would you critique Strabo's assumptions if you met him today?

Write a script for a short three scene play (800 words max.), where Strabo time travels to present-day Rome. Were his assumptions correct? Optionally, you could film your play (5 minutes max.) and send us the video. Be creative, argumentative, and prepared to challenge the questions!
